

A plastic sheet has a uniform surface charge density σ . An imaginary (Gaussian) cylinder has its left and right end caps equal distances from the sheet, and has a cross-sectional area A .

Three students make the following statements about the charge enclosed by the cylinder.

