

Shown is a graph of the electric potential versus distance in a region in which there may be an electric field. The labeled points indicate six locations within this region.

Three students considering this graph make the following contentions.

